

Port Madison Community Shellfish Farm

Community Supported Aquaculture (CSA) Membership Form

Become a 2017 CSA Member!

As a CSA member of the Port Madison Community Shellfish Farm (PMCSF), you can choose from three different membership levels described below. CSA members will be provided with five oyster orders throughout the season ready for pick up at the Puget Sound Restoration Fund office.* As a member you are invited and encouraged to volunteer for at least one harvest per year. This includes visiting the farm, collecting, sorting and bagging oysters and partaking in the fun of growing and eating local shellfish! If you are unable to attend a harvest event, you may send another volunteer in your place. Please be sure to wear boots, gloves and appropriate clothing for the weather. Regular emails will be sent from the farm manager throughout the season with updates and announcements on harvests and work parties. Membership is available on a first come first served basis and all proceeds benefit shoreline and water quality improvement projects around Bainbridge Island!

*As a CSA member, you are also a farm partner- meaning you share the bounty of the season as well as the risks. There are naturally occurring events such as storms, beach disturbances, predation, and strong currents that can affect the productivity of the shellfish farm. Also, in the event that a toxic algae bloom (e.g. PSP) closes the bay to harvest, PSRF will do its level best to schedule an alternative harvest to ensure that you get your full allotment of tasty, locally grown oysters. PSRF pledges to take all possible steps to minimize risks and will give priority to CSA members in the event of shellfish shortfalls. However, as a CSA member, you agree to the inherent risks associated with aquaculture production.
